Ohio Toll Light Sunday Compared With Other Weeks' Fatalities.

Ohio's death toll in week-end traffic accidents was unusually light, compared to the heavy number of lives claimed by mishaps in previous weeks.

Seven persons in the state were known to have been killed. Many others were hurt, including two Toledo athletes who were injured in a traffic accident near that city.

Seven Ohioans were among the 22 injured in a bus crash near Butler, Pa., yesterday. Two separate crashes in Michigan just over the Ohio line took eight lives, six of them being members of one family.

Columbus traffic claimed the lives of two persons. George H. Conner, 57, was struck and killed by a "hit-skip" motorist Sunday. The man was run down and killed in front of his home. He had just returned from Galveston, Tex., where he had been working for several months. Florabel Delgarn, 2, died in a hospital from injuries sustained when struck by an auto yesterday.

KILLED IN KENTUCKY
One Ohioan was killed and another was injured in an auto accident five miles south of Covington, Ky. Fred Hollifield, 27, of Bethel suffered fatal hurts, and Robert Rust, 28, of Forestville, sustained severe injuries.

When an automobile driven by Frank Post swerved on the New Lexington-Zanesville road to avoid striking another car, it ran into a crowd of five men walking along the road, killing one and seriously injuring two others. The other two members escaped by jumping from the path of the car. Frank Willison, 38, of Roseville, was killed and Theodore Colbern, 28, and Roland Savage, 22, both of Roseville, were injured.

Mrs. Leah Lemonek, 87, widow of Simon Lemonek, former prominent corporation lawyer, was killed at Cincinnati when she stepped into the path of an automobile.

YOUTH IS VICTIM
James VanOrder, 18, was killed late Saturday night in an automobile crash near Columbus.

One man was killed and four others were injured in the Mahoning Valley. Samuel Austin was killed near Burghill when his automobile blew a tire and overturned. Four persons were injured in Youngstown traffic.

PICKAWAY IN THIRD PLACE

Local Co-op High in Amount of Livestock Shipped—Expense Is Small.

More live stock was sold co-operatively and at less expense during April than has even been reported to the Ohio Live Stock Co-operative Association for that month since the farmers began this form of marketing. The 37 county Farm Bureaus handling live stock sold a total of $1,325,000 worth at an average total marketing expense of 49.1 cents a hundred.

The volume amounted to 11,385,000 pounds shipped by 7,637 individuals and moved to market in 826 cars. This record volume brought the net market proceeds for the first four months of the year to slightly more than $5,000,000, an increase of 42.97 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Pickaway co shipped 63 carloads, thereby ranking third in the state. The report of Harry J. Briggs, manager of the county association, shows local stock brought $117,263 and was consigned by 375 farmers. The expense was only 24.3 cents, placing them in second place for low marketing expense.

Fayette co led all others marketing 111 decks for more than a 1000 shippers. Franklin co shipped at the least expense, 19.6 cents, and in addition ranked second in volume.

Huntington, Harvard student of Windsor, Conn., are concentrating their efforts toward finding Dorothy Gay, former Follies beauty and wife of Robert Fullerton of Stamford, Conn., rich bibliophile and antiquarian. The police emphasize the fact that they do not involve Mrs. Fullerton or her husband, but believe the wife can tell them something of young Huntington's activities at Harvard which may shed light on his mysterious death.

AUTOS AGAIN TROUBLE TOM

Chillicothe Man In Road Crash After Release On Driving Charge.

Tom Crist, Chillicothe, fined $100 and costs Saturday by Mayor B. T. Hedges, who also took away his driving privilege for six months, on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, as again on bond to appear in the local police court.

Saturday Crist was also bound over to the Pickaway-co grand jury under $500 bond on a charge of pointing firearms. Sunday he figured in an automobile wreck which involved three cars and was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter and Miller Fissell. He was brought to the city jail and posted $25 bond to appear before the mayor and explain why he was driving an automobile.

Crist told the officers he was riding with his niece, Etta Stevens, of Chillicothe, in a Whippet owned by her father, Nick Stevens. The girl was driving, Crist said, and near the county line on the Chillicothe road became confused in the traffic and asked help to turn the car around for her.

When the Whippet started to turn around with Crist at the wheel, it is said his car collided with two automobiles who were following him. The other two cars were a Chandler owned by Elmas McCollister, of Chillicothe, and a Buick owned by Ivan Hyer, of Circleville. All three cars were damaged in the crash.

MRS. DOUDS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. George Douds, E. Main-st. was scratched and bruised at 5:30 p. m. Saturday when the Chrysler sedan she was driving and a Buick sedan driven by Jay Henry, Jr., colored, collided at the intersection of Mound and Mingo-sts.

The force of the impact turned the Douds car completely around and it ran into an embankment in the yard of H. R. Grant. When the car struck the embankment Mrs. Douds was thrown through the door of the auto.

Both machines were badly damaged and Henry has been ordered to appear before Mayor B. T. Hedges at 7 p. m. Monday.

Bovine Deaths Are Blamed On Lexington Rum

NEW LEXINGTON, O., May 20.—"Will whiskey kill cows, and do cows drink moonshine?"

This was the real mystery facing Perry-co authorities today. Five cows were found dead on the J. B. Nutting and Albert Simmons farms, near here. The only evidence authorities have is an empty whiskey jug found near the dead cattle. A pungent liquor odor pervaded the scene. State veterinarians are to be asked to conduct a probe.

NEW WARFARE IS SCHEDULED

Ground Troops To Co-operate With Air Forces For Rest Of Conflict.

With the fatal midair crash of Saturday partially forgotten, the 11-day mock war in Ohio continued today with the concentration of ground troops in preparation for the second phase of the great "peace-time" demonstration ever staged by the United States Army.

Hitherto, the war was a "battle in the skies," between the Red (Columbus) and Blue (Dayton) army air forces, each consisting of about 100 airplanes.

With the stroke of midnight, the ground maneuvers will begin. The airplanes will be used in a secondary capacity for locating enemy troop positions and dropping simulated bombs on mythical encampments, artillery, trenches and ammunition "dumps."

Plans, indicating a mythical force of some 800,000 troops are being placed today and will be subject to attack from the 1,600 "real" soldiers, which will be the "backbone" of the opposing forces. The first ground battle, it is reported, will take place along Big Darby creek west of Columbus, with the rising of the sun tomorrow.

U. S. REFORMATORY IS VISITED BY FIRE

CHILLICOTHE, May 20.—The barracks at the U. S. Reformatory, serving as residences for employees, were burned Sunday at a loss tentatively fixed between $6000 and $8000.

An overheated stove is believed to have been the cause, it was said by Supt. A. E. McDonald. Government fire companies kept the blaze from spreading to nearby homes and the laundry plant.

John Haswell of Columbus spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Frances Haswell of Watt-st.

Trans-Atlantic Race Is Planned For 2 Airplanes

American and French Craft Will Start Either Tuesday Or Wednesday.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Two airplanes, one American and the other French, will begin a trans-Atlantic race to Europe tomorrow or Wednesday, indications were today. Weather conditions will determine the time of the start.

The daring aviators who will brave the perils of the Atlantic in the quest for fame that Charles A. Lindbergh began two years ago today are Roger C. Williams, the American; and Jean Assolant, Rene LeFevre and Armeno Lotti, of France.

Williams will be accompanied by Lewis Yancey, relief pilot and navigator, and Kenneth Boedecker, service engineer of the Wright Co.

Williams and his crew planned to hop from the airport at Teterboro, N. J. today or tomorrow in the "Green Flash," their Bellanca plane, for Old Orchard, Me. They intend to hop off from Old Orchard for Rome at about the same time that the Frenchmen plan to leave Roosevelt Field, Long Island, for Paris.

Final tests of the motors of the "Green Flash" were made yesterday. The plane is powered with a 250-horse power engine and will hold 600 gallons of gas. The distance is more than 4,700 miles. If the fliers reach their destination they will establish a new world distance record.

The Frenchmen had planned to head across the Atlantic this morning, but postponed their hop-off because of unfavorable weather reports.

The Frenchmen had planned to head across the Atlantic this morning, but postponed their hop-off because of unfavorable weather reports.

Williams was to have piloted the Roma from Roosevelt field to Rome last summer, but Caesar Sabelli and Pietro Bonelli, leading lights in the project, became involved in a law suit and the Roma did not start.

BETTING MUST STOP IS EDICT

Gov. Cooper Dissatisfied With Four Arrests At West Jefferson.

COLUMBUS, O., May 20.—"Betting at dog races in Ohio has got to stop."

Looking askance at Officials of Madison-co, Governor Myers Y. Cooper today reiterated the warning against betting at the dog races at West Jefferson, a small Madison-co village just over the Franklin-co line.

When told of the arrest of four officials of the track by the Madison-co sheriff, E. U. Blaugher, which occurred Saturday, the chief executive declared:

"I am not impugning what has been done, but four arrests, or six or eight, are not going to stop dog racing and the attendant gambling. There are measures that will stop it and these steps must be taken immediately."

Officials of Madison-co were treading lightly. No more arrests will be made, they indicated, until the result of the trial of the four officials of the track is known.

If they can convict the men on charges of gambling, it was declared that more arrests will be made. Until then, it was admitted, dog racing at West Jefferson will continue.

47 STATES SUGGEST EDISON SUCCESSOR

AID OF FARM BLOC ASKED IN TARIFF FIGHT

Administration Leaders Attempt To Negotiate Compromise On Rates.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Administration leaders today were attempting to negotiate a compromise with the "farm bloc" which they hope will assure early passage of a tariff bill in the house and final acceptance of the $500,000,000 farm relief bill.

Negotiations were proceeding on the theory that the "farm bloc" of the house will continue to stand firm and force the senate to yield on the debenture plan if their tariff demands are satisfied.

The willingness of the house "farm bloc" pilots to compromise their demands for tariff increases on nearly a score of products which were passed up in the Hawley tariff bill lent a rosy hue to the situation from the standpoint of the administration.

The Republican members of the house ways and means committee met in closed session to consider their final report on the tariff bill, after having heard protests against low farm products tariff for five days.

At the same time, senate and house conference committees on the farm bill, headed by Senator McNary (R) of Oregon and Rep. Hatten (R) of Iowa, got together to iron out differences of the two branches of congress. The conferences may continue for several days.

Rep. Dickinson (R) of Iowa, leader of the house "farm bloc," who has led the rebellion against the Hawley tariff bill, indicated the most important of the many tariff demands. The "farm bloc" will fight for a tariff on hides and higher livestock duties, for a tariff on topioca to boost corn production, higher duty on case in to aid the dairy industry and also on dried milk.

The bitterness of the fight against the proposed 3-cent sugar tariff will force the "farm bloc" to abandon its demand for higher duties on black-strap molasses, in order to force the use of corn in the making of alcohol, it was indicated.

While a majority of the senate and house conferees on the farm bill are against the debenture plan, it is possible that the senate may insist that the house take a direct vote on the debenture proposal. This the house avoided in sending the farm bill to conference.

A growing demand for inclusion of the debenture plan in the new tariff bill may speed a settlement on the farm measure.

GRAF GETTING NEW ENGINES

Interrupted Flight To America To Start Again In Two Weeks, Is Plan.

TOULON, France, May 20.—Work was to begin today on the installation of two new motors in the trans-Atlantic dirigible "Graf Zeppelin" in order that the great ship may return to Friedrichshafen, Germany, for a complete overhauling before taking off again for Lakehurst, New Jersey.

The new engines, sent on from Friedrichshafen to replace two of the four which were crippled during the dirigible's twenty-six hour battle with a gale over the Rhone valley, will enable the Zeppelin to return to its base, it is hoped, without difficulty.

One of the five original motors on the dirigible is still in working order. The remaining two will be replaced when the Zeppelin arrives in Germany.

According to present plans, the "Graf Zeppelin" will leave for Friedrichshafen on Thursday, and if the necessary repairs can be executed in time, the flight to America will be resumed within two weeks.

Eight of the original 18 passengers today affirmed their intention of making the trans-Atlantic crossing whenever the Zeppelin is ready, in spite of their narrow escape on the last trip. They include Lieut. Commander Vincent Clark, of the United States navy, Franklin Nicholson, representative of the Columbia broadcasting company and special International News Service correspondent aboard the dirigible, and Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, the only woman aboard.

REPARATIONS CUT OFFERED TO GERMANY

America Offers To Lower Debt Owed It To Aid Issue Settlement.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—As a contribution to the settlement of Europe's reparations problem, which has been the world's chief economic stumbling block since the war, the United States government is willing to scale down somewhat and to defer collection of its bill against Germany.

A plan already has been worked out by the treasury, and, in a general way, approved. Having the principle, the details remain to be worked out, but Owen D. Young in Paris has been advised that Washington is willing to "go along" with the other German debtors in any reasonable and equitable program that promises to remove the reparations bogey from the pathway of European recovery.

A note was dispatched to Paris last night after President Hoover had conferred with congressional leaders, advising that this government was prepared to make some concessions along with the rest in order that an accord might be reached.

SACRIFICE SLIGHT

Under the treasury plan, it was said today that the concessions this government is willing to make will cost the treasury only about $20,000,000 or $25,000,000 of the total amount of claims against Germany.

American claims against Germany—insignificant as compared with those of France, England, Belgium and Italy—fall into two classes: (1) a bill of approximately $250,000,000 for maintaining American troops on the Rhine after the armistice, and (2) claims by American nationals for damages inflicted by German nationals during hostilities. These latter claims are now being compiled and adjusted by the mixed claims commission. Already some $170,000,000 have been certified and passed for payment, and the balance is not concluded.

OUT IN ARMY BILL

What scaling down there is to be done—it will not reach more than 10 percent in any event—probably will come in the bill for the Rhine occupation, as the government has no authority to arbitrarily reduce individual claims for damages.

Theoretically, the United States has been supposed to get 2 1-4 percent of Germany's reparations payments in satisfaction of American claims. Actually, however, France and Great Britain have gobbled most of the German payments through the reparations commission. Some minor payments have been made on the army costs, but they have not amounted to much.

TWO KILLED IN YANK STADIUM

Sixty-two Baseball Fans Injured In Rush To Exits To Escape Rain.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Sixty-two baseball fans, many of them young boys of the freckle-faced, tousled-headed type comprising a large percentage of Babe Ruth's countless galaxy of admirers the nation over, were being treated for injuries today as the result of a wild stampede which followed a sudden cloudburst in the fifth inning of the Yankee-Red Sox game at the Yankee stadium here yesterday.

Two persons, a young girl and a sixty-year old truck driver, met instant death when the crowd, scrambling for exits in a moment of wild panic, knocked them down and crushed them against the flooring of the stadium.

Reports from Lincoln hospital, where the injured were taken, stated today that all those hurt were expected to recover, although many were suffering painfully from fractured ribs and broken arms and legs.

The dead are Miss Eleanor Price, a student at Hunter college here, who had taken her "kid" brother to the game, and Joseph Carter. Both met instant death when the surging crowd swept over them in its mad rush to escape the storm. Both tripped and fell as the panicked crowd fought to get out of the rain.

Hundreds of feet trampled over the prostrate figures, and the irresistible crush of thousands more from behind threw down dozens more, many of them young boys.

Dr. R. S. Hooper of Ashville was a Circleville visitor on Sunday.

BETTING MUST STOP IS EDICT

Gov. Cooper Dissatisfied With Four Arrests At West Jefferson.

COLUMBUS, O., May 20.—"Betting at dog races in Ohio has got to stop."

Looking askance at Officials of Madison-co, Governor Myers J. Cooper today reiterated the warning against betting at the dog races at West Jefferson, a small Madison-co village just over the Franklin-co line.

When told of the arrest of four officials of the track by the Madison-co sheriff, E. U. Blaugh, which occurred Saturday, the chief executive declared:

"I am not impugning what has been done, but four arrests, or six or eight, are not going to stop dog racing and the attendant gambling. There are measures that will stop it and these steps must be taken immediately."

Officials of Madison-co were treading lightly. No more arrests will be made, they indicated, until the result of the trial of the four officials of the track is known.

If they can convict the men on charges of gambling, it was declared that more arrests will be made. Until then, it was admitted, dog racing at West Jefferson will continue.

47 STATES SUGGEST EDISON SUCCESSOR

ORANGE, N. J., May 20.—Every state in the union with the exception of Kansas has agreed to send a boy here to take part in the Thomas A. Edison scholarship plan through which the famous inventor expects to train a young man to carry on his work, it was announced at the Edison plant today.

Clyde M. Reed, governor of Kansas, declined the offer because he did not believe his state had facilities to choose a boy, he said.

AID OF FARM BLOC ASKED IN TARIFF FIGHT

Administration Leaders Attempt To Negotiate Compromise On Rates.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Administration leaders today were attempting to negotiate a compromise with the "farm bloc" which they hope will assure early passage of a tariff bill in the house and final acceptance of the $500,000,000 farm relief bill.

Negotiations were proceeding on the theory that the "farm bloc" of the house will continue to stand firm and force the senate to yield on the debenture plan if their tariff demands are satisfied.

The willingness of the house "farm bloc" pilots to compromise their demands for tariff increases on nearly a score of products which were passed up in the Hawley tariff bill lent a rosy hue to the situation from the standpoint of the administration.

The Republican members of the house ways and means committee met in closed session to consider their final report on the tariff bill, after having heard protests against low farm products tariff for five days.

At the same time, senate and house conference committees on the farm bill, headed by Senator McNary (R) of Oregon and Rep. Haugen (R) of Iowa, got together to iron out differences of the two branches of congress. The conferences may continue for several days.

Rep. Dickinson (R) of Iowa, leader of the house "farm bloc," who has led the rebellion against the Hawley tariff bill, indicated the most important of the many tariff demands. The "farm bloc" will fight for a tariff on hides and higher livestock duties, for a tariff on topioca to boost corn production, higher duty on case in to aid the dairy industry and also on dried milk.

The bitterness of the fight against the proposed 3-cent sugar tariff will force the "farm bloc" to abandon its demand for higher duties on black-strap molasses, in order to force the use of corn in the making of alcohol, it was indicated.

While a majority of the senate and house conferees on the farm bill are against the debenture plan, it is possible that the senate may insist that the house take a direct vote on the debenture proposal. This the house avoided in sending the farm bill to conference.

A growing demand for inclusion of the debenture plan in the new tariff bill may speed a settlement on the farm measure.

GRAF GETTING NEW ENGINES

Interrupted Flight To America To Start Again In Two Weeks, Is Plan.

TOULON, France, May 20.—Work was to begin today on the installation of two new motors in the trans-Atlantic dirigible "Graf Zeppelin" in order that the great ship may return to Friedrichshafen, Germany, for a complete overhaul before taking off again for Lakehurst, New Jersey.

The new engines, sent on from Friedrichshafen to replace two of the four which were crippled during the dirigible's twenty-six hour battle with a gale over the Rhone valley, will enable the Zeppelin to return to its base, it is hoped, without difficulty.

One of the five original motors on the dirigible is still in working order. The remaining two will be replaced when the Zeppelin arrives in Germany.

According to present plans, the "Graf Zeppelin" will leave for Friedrichshafen on Thursday, and if the necessary repairs can be executed in time, the flight to America will be resumed within two weeks.

Eight of the original 18 passengers today affirmed their intention of making the trans-Atlantic crossing whenever the Zeppelin is ready, in spite of their narrow escape on the last trip.

They include Lieut. Commander Vincent Clark, of the United States navy, Franklin Nicholson, representative of the Columbia Broadcasting company and special International News Service correspondent aboard the dirigible, and Mrs. Mary Pierce, of New York, the only woman aboard.

Jammed Door Let Gases Escape

A piece of broken steam pipe jammed in the fire door of the X-ray film room at the Cleveland Clinic Hospital allowed the poison gases to escape which killed over 125 persons and is expected to take an even heavier toll of those who were exposed. The picture above shows anxious relatives crowded at the entrance of the Cleveland morgue to help identify bodies of friends and relatives.

America Offers To Lower Debt Owed It To Aid Issue Settlement.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—As a contribution to the settlement of Europe's reparations problem, which has been the world's chief economic stumbling block since the war, the United States government is willing to scale down somewhat and to defer collection of its bill against Germany.

A plan already has been worked out by the treasury, and, in a general way, approved. Having the principle, the details remain to be worked out, but Owen D. Young in Paris has been advised that Washington is willing to "go along" with the other German debtors in any reasonable and equitable program that promises to remove the reparations bogey from the pathway of European recovery.

A note was dispatched to Paris last night after President Hoover had conferred with congressional leaders, advising that this government was prepared to make some concessions along with the rest in order that an accord might be reached.

Under the treasury plan, it was said today that the concessions this government is willing to make will cost the treasury only about $20,000,000 or $25,000,000 of the total amount of claims against Germany.

American claims against Germany—insignificant as compared with those of France, England, Belgium and Italy—fall into two classes: (1) a bill of approximately $250,000,000 for maintaining American troops on the Rhine after the armistice, and (2) claims by American nationals for damages inflicted by German nationals during hostilities. These latter claims are now being compiled and adjusted by the mixed claims commission. Already some $175,000,000 have been certified and passed for payment, and the work is not completed.

CUT IN ARMY BILL

What scaling down there is to be done—it will not reach more than 10 percent in any event—probably will come in the bill for the Rhine occupation, as the government has no authority to arbitrarily reduce individual claims for damages.

Theoretically, the United States has been supposed to get 2 1-4 percent of Germany's reparations payments in satisfaction of American claims. Actually, however, France and Great Britain have gobbled most of the German payments through the reparations commission. Some minor payments have been made on the army costs, but they have not amounted to much.

TWO KILLED IN YANK STADIUM

Sixty-two Baseball Fans Injured In Rush To Exits To Escape Rain.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Sixty-two baseball fans, many of them young boys of the freckle-faced, tousled-headed type comprising a large percentage of Babe Ruth's countless galaxy of admirers the nation over, were being treated for injuries today as the result of a wild stampede which followed a sudden cloudburst in the fifth inning of the Yankee-Red Sox game at the Yankee stadium here yesterday.

Two persons, a young girl and a sixty-year old truck driver, met instant death when the crowd, scrambling for exits in a moment of wild panic, knocked them down and crushed them against the flooring of the stadium.

Reports from Lincoln hospital, where the injured were taken, stated today that all those hurt were expected to recover, although many were suffering painfully from fractured ribs and broken arms and legs.

The dead are Miss Eleanor Price, a student at Hunter college here, who had taken her "kid" brother to the game, and Joseph Carter. Both met instant death when the surging crowd sept over them in its mad rush to escape the storm. Both tripped and fell as the panic-stricken crowd fought to get out of the rain.

Hundreds of feet trampled over the prostrate figures and the irresistible crush of thousands more from behind threw down dozens more, many of them young boys.

Dr. R. S. Hosler of Ashville was a Circleville visitor on Sunday.

GRIMES WINS 6TH STRAIGHT FOR PIRATES

Pittsburgh Hurler Is Undefeated and His Club Shows More Pep.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The Pirates can't be declared out of the National league scramble as long as Burleigh Grimes is on the job.
That was demonstrated yesterday when the veteran spitball twirler beat the Cubs, 4 to 1, for his sixth victory of the campaign. He has yet to lose a decision.

After an indifferent start, the Pirates have been playing the best ball in the league for the past week. The 1927 champions knocked the Cardinals out of first place by trimming them two out of three, and now are out to sweep their three-game series with Chicago, the other leading contender.

A hit by Charley Gelbert, the shortstop who was tried and found wanting and is now being tried again, enabled the Cardinals to nose out the Reds yesterday in the eleventh, 2 to 1. Johnson and Luque did the throwing.

YANKS GET PITCHING Perfect pitching, not needed by the Yankees when murderers' row was going full blast, has enabled the champions to win three straight after dropping five in a row. Three New York hurlers have pitched shutout ball in their last twenty-one innings, in which they allowed only five hits.
Heimach, who blanked the Red Sox yesterday 3 to 0 in a game held to five innings by rain, yielded only two hits.

Jack Russell also allowed only two hits but they were home runs by Gehrig and Ruth—Lou's ninth and Babe's seventh. It was but a short time later that the delirious joy of the crowds was turned to stark tragedy in the wild rush of the rain-soaked spectators for shelter.

SENATORS LOSE AGAIN
The Athletics took their fourth straight from the Senators, 7 to 0, with Rube Walberg on the mound.

The White Sox pounded five Detroit pitchers for a 10 to 3 win, breaking even in the series.

Cleveland won its first victory of the year over the Browns, scoring six runs in the eighth for a 10 to 6 landslide. Five St. Louis pitchers were battered for 29 hits, Fonseca getting four.

Other clubs did not play.

Indiana in History

The word "Indiana" was first used as the name of a triangular tract of territory containing about 5,000 square miles which is now a part of West Virginia. The tract was given by the Six Nations of Iroquois Indians about 1778 to the Indiana Land company, as indemnity in the settlement of a claim for merchandise taken by a war party of Indians. Later the state government refused to recognize the transaction and Indiana ceased to exist. In 1800 the Northwest territory was divided and part of it called "Indiana Territory." After several changes of boundary it became the state of Indiana.

Warning to Amateurs

Don't try to fix electrical connections unless you know what you are doing.

That good old-fashioned flavor

No doubt about it—old-time cooking was delicious. But it may have been our youthful appetites, rather than the quality of the food itself, that gave it that super-flavor we all remember.
The good cooks of those days never had a chance to buy such groceries as modern housewives use.

The coffee on your breakfast-table—one of the half-dozen best-known brands advertised today—has a flavor that you could find only at a few famous restaurants, forty years ago. The cakes that mother used to make would have been even lighter, fluffier, if she had had modern flour and shortening to work with.

Every day the advertising columns tell you where to buy and how to use cooking materials that are better-tasting, purer, more conveniently put up than ever before in history.

All through your housekeeping the same rule holds good. There are better things nowadays to eat, to wear, to use. Read the advertisements and know what they are. Then ask for them by name.

Make it a habit; reading the advertisements pays YOU.

LARKSPUR IS BELMONT PICK

Favorite Defeated in Kentucky
Derby Figured To Win
Next Start.

NEW YORK, May 20.—To hear them tell it, there isn't a real good three-year-old race horse in training today, in spite of the fact that the second of the two major stake races, the Kentucky derby, was written into the pages of posterity on Saturday. That event and the preakness usually prompt the boys to stand about in reverent groups and discuss the two winners in some degree of awe but today some of them were sneering openly at Clyde Van Dusen and Dr. Freeland, respective winners of the derby and preakness, and the term, "nickel horses," was by no means a conversational rarity.

Personally, I think it is possible that the boys are getting their paper money mixed up with some of their street car tokens. Clyde Van Dusen admittedly is no Zev,
No Bubbling Over and no Reigh Count but neither is he a plug who soon is to find his level between the shafts of somebody's harness. As a matter of fact, we know neither how good nor how bad he may be, for he won the derby so easily that an accurate conception of his worth is not possible.

They tell you also that those who played Blue Larkspur in the derby will get their money back.
All that is necessary, it seems, is to bet on him in the Belmont and back to papa will come the dollars temporarily estranged through a slight misunderstanding that occurred at Churchill Downs on Saturday.

The idea in this connection is that Blue Larkspur will beat Dr.
Freeland in the Belmont and in truth, racing form says that he should. Perhaps they wouldn't be so certain of a Bradley victory if Larkspur had to beat Van Dusen.
The latter, being a gelding, isn't eligible for the Belmont.

As to Faith

There are men and women who will not believe anything that does not sell itself to their reason. To take that position is to place too high a value on your own limited reason. There are many things undoubtedly true that the reason cannot comprehend.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Fossil Ivory

Mammoth ivory, sometimes called fossil ivory, comes from Siberia.
The tusks, longer and more curved than those of the elephant, are found in the frozen mud of the "tundras" or frozen marshes of the northeastern Siberian wastes.
One mammoth tusk found in Siberia was 13 feet 7 inches long and weighed 155 pounds. Ordinary fossil ivory realizes from $75 to $100 per hundredweight.

COCA COLAS AGAIN DEFEAT TELLINGS

Coca Cola and Tellings Ice Cream staged another fast and interesting game at the Commons Sunday afternoon. The score at end of the ninth inning was tied at 6 to 6.

Both teams played real brand of baseball with the Coca Cola getting the breaks in the 13th inning.
Woffler singled, went to second on a passed ball, third on a single and scored the winning run on an overthrow by Goldsberry.
Maloney pitched for winners making it his third successive victory over Tellings Ice Cream. Raymond Smith pitched a fine game for losers.

Fatal Superstition

The superstition about anything being done on a Friday led to a woman's death at Leicester, England, recently. She was taken ill on a Friday, but refused, because of the superstition, to see a doctor until Saturday. It was then too late. She died on Monday from heart failure following influenza.

Highest Form of Power

The regeneration of a sinner is evidence of power in the highest sphere—moral nature; with the highest prerogative—to change na-which is great, but to create anew, which is greater.—William Arthur.

Salt's Real Value

Some authorities believe that while man might live without the addition of salt to food he would soon experience a disinclination to eat many vegetables rich in food value, such as potatoes. The use of salt tends to enable us to utilize a more varied selection of foods.

---of personal loans

EACH BORROWER MAY NOW OBTAIN A LOAN UP TO $1000.

This means that you may borrow any sum from $25 up to $1000 for any personal use, on your own signature and security. Loans formerly limited to $500, may now be increased to $600, $800 or even to the new $1000 limit, according to your needs and circumstances.

THE INTEREST IS 8% PER ANNUM ON THE AMOUNT OF EACH LOAN IN EXCESS OF $300.

This means a substantial reduction of rates on all loans over $300; and applies to every loan now in existence or made after this date.

A DISCOUNT OF ONE-TENTH OF THE INTEREST IS ALLOW-ED FOR PROMPT PAYMENTS.

This means that you save 10% of the interest on each regular monthly payment paid when due (or within five days thereafter). And this reward can be earned each month by all borrowers who pay promptly.

YOUR MONTHLY PAYMENT GETS SMALLER AS THE LOAN IS REDUCED.

This means that the monthly payment on each loan is automatically reduced as the principal is paid down. For each $100 paid off, the payment becomes $7 less. And a full month is allowed to elapse from the time one payment is received until the next payment falls due.

LOANS ARE MADE TO FARMERS FOR STRAIGHT TIME PERIODS, WITHOUT MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

This means that farmers can pay once each quarter or half-year instead of every month. It is a form of practical Farm Relief, which allows for the long income intervals incident to farming.

EXTENDS A POPULAR LOAN SERVICE TO THOUSANDS OF NEW BORROWERS.

By raising its loan limit, reducing its interest rates, allowing discounts for prompt payments and adopting other business policies as above outlined for the benefit of its customers, The City Loan assumes a new position of leadership in the loaning business. This popular loan service can now be obtained by more than half the borrowers of the entire state of Ohio.

Anti-Booze Utopia Planned For Mexico by President

Portes Gil Lays Down Dozen Regulations in New Measure

IF the Dominion of Canada should go dry—God forbid—those of Uncle Sam's citizens who like their liquor strong and who insist upon any decent quantity of uncut stuff will have to go out of North America for it, since Portes Gil, President of Mexico, has given out his plan to make his country dry.

Through the National Anti-Alcoholic Committee, co-operating with the state governments, he intends to suspend manufacture and sale of whiskey and other liquors with high alcoholic content, to stop the importation of hard liquor and reduce the number of saloons.

President Gil is making a decidedly civic project of his liquor reform movement. To begin with, his anti committee will be headed by the chief of the Public Health Service, and will include representatives from labor, commercial, industrial, welfare and newspaper organizations.

What's more, the committee will function under the patronage of school children, who will be organized in a dry drive, and every text book will contain anti-alcoholic decalogues. In addition, mothers will be called upon to co-operate.

To compensate to his people for the absence of the usual quantity of joy water the President is going to feature in his program the encouragement of sports and will establish workmen's centres for recreation and culture.

The punch will come in what the Mexican leader calls "complementary measures." He has laid down the following regulations for the Anti-Alcoholic Committee to carry out:

Prohibition of the sale of alcoholic drinks elsewhere than in duly authorized places.

Limitation of the number of saloons to the necessities of population.

Saloons shall keep a prescribed distance from schools, factories, barracks and industrial plants.

Prohibition of the employment of intoxicated persons or persons with police records in saloons.

PRESIDENT PORTES GIL

Alcoholic liquors having a high percentage of alcohol shall be sold only in bottles.

Only liquors with a low percentage of alcohol shall be sold for consumption on the premises.

Prohibition of the sale of alcoholic liquors to women and minors.

Prohibition of the sale of food in pulquerias and cantinas.

Retirement of the licenses for cabarets and nonissuance of new licenses.

Prohibition of the manufacture of whiskey, gin and other liquors having a high alcoholic content and the transformation of the distilleries into factories for the manufacture of textiles.

The restriction on the importation of liquors with high alcoholic content. The establishment of anti-alcoholic clinics and the creation of sanatoriums for hard drinkers.

The National Anti-Alcoholic Committee will begin to function May 20.

It's going to be interesting to see if President Gil's utopian plan will work out as well as Uncle Sam's. Bull fights and gaming tables are fascinating in their own way, but, after all, they won't satisfy a parched throat.

BIBLE THOUGHT

A HEARTENING PROMISE—
From the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same, my name shall be great among the Gentiles; and in every place incense shall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering; for my name shall be great among the heathen, saith the Lord of Hosts.—Malachi 1:11.

PRAYER—"May every heart confess Thy Name, And ever Thee adore."

MUST VIGILANTES RETURN

It is noticeable that the people are giving more serious thought than ever before to putting a stop to the crime wave.

This is a good sign for America, a healthy sign which shows that the country has not lost its respect for law.

This indiscriminate guerilla warfare which has been a source of terror in many cities too long has been a civic disgrace.

When gangs of hired gunmen roam abroad and massacre not only individuals, but groups, it is time for the American people to reflect whether this is leading us as a people.

The continued practice of these gangs of gunmen can not fail to have its effect upon the loosened morale which must of necessity follow, in other centers, the news of their escapades and their seeming immunity for legal penalization for their crimes. Sooner or later the same sort of tactics may prevail in smaller communities and then we will really have anarchy and no man's life will be safe.

It will be a reversion to the jungle whence we sprang ages ago, and each man and citizen will have to go armed and be prepared to do, or die, for himself and his, as was the case when the cave man roamed at will and might made right.

This all seems improbable and remote, but the importation of these tactics of the Mafia from southern Italy to the United States; the intimidation of witnesses in some cities who might convict these terror strikers; the seeming inability of the officers of the law, and court to catch and convict them may cause citizens to resort to the organized vigilantes, who, taking the law in their own hands, will under the guise of enforcing the law, seek out these gangsters and their ilk and ruthlessly slay them as was the case in the earlier periods of the settlement of the west.

It is folly to attempt to placate these monsters who prey upon society at large. Law abiding citizens must either awake to a keener sense of their responsibilities as citizens, or pay the price which chaos will exact of them.

METROPOLITAN HICKS

Take it from Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman and daughter of Mark Hanna, there is as much culture on Main-st as on Fifth avenue or Broadway. She ought to be qualified to judge. She has lived in big cities, and now lives in a village of 800 population.

It is the big towns, she says, that breed the Babbitts. There are no greater "hicks" found anywhere than in great communities whose people brag that they have never been anywhere else. The village she finds, has more culture to the square rod than the metropolis.

This was probably true in the beginning. Many of the greatest men in our earlier history were farmers or villagers. We passed through a period when the farms grew more isolated and primitive, compared with cities. Now the trend is the other way again. But millions of city hicks, who haven't "been around" except around the corner, don't know it yet.

Next Ice Age

It is said that the next ice age is but 25,000 years away. Geologically considered, that is only about a minute.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

DAPHNE HAINES, seventeen and lovely, finds life intolerable because of a nagging, jealous stepmother whose main aim is to promote a courtship between her own daughter, Crystal, and wealthy, attractive Ralph McKevitt. Catching a fleeting glimpse of Daphne, the "prize" young man admires her. Mrs. Haines, fearing the rivalry of the younger girl, schemes to eliminate her from the scene. Daphne dismayed when she realizes how completely these two calculating women have her father in their power, comforts herself by spinning secret dreams of a day when someone will really love her—a man, big, powerful, handsome, like Ralph! A sordid quarrel is provoked between Haines and his wife because of the woman's reckless expenditures. Subtly Mrs. Haines draws Daphne into the brawl. Feeling the hopelessness of her situation, Daphne determines to make her own way in the world, and leaves for San Francisco. With twenty dollars capital she seeks employment and learns it is hard to find. Daphne has an unpleasant experience with a prospective employer and in her haste to get away from him, leaves a purse containing her last five dollars in his office. The wolf seems perilously close. Hunger seizes her and she walks the streets wondering what she can buy to eat with a nickel. She decides upon a cup of coffee. At the Java Inn, a cheap restaurant, a young man sensing Daphne's plight, buys her a plate of ham and eggs. His face seems vaguely familiar.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

DAPHNE climbed into the roadster with a heart like lead. "Pickup! That's what I am—a pickup!" she thought, and she thought of the other girl who had whizzed by in another roadster, laughing, having a wonderful time . . . if only she could be like that . . . merry . . . not caring . . .

She heard herself saying, "I live way out on Geary Street. If it's too far to drive me, you could take me to the Geary car."

"What? Trying to shake me again?"

"Oh, no—just thinking it might be too far out of your way to—"

She stopped in confusion, conscious that he was laughing at her.

"All right, I'll take you right home, no foolin'. Sure you don't want a little drive out to the beach first, though? Another plate of ham and?"

"No, honestly—I'd rather go home—some other time."

"Some other time is right. Come on, tell me your name and address and telephone number—no fakes now."

She told him, in a strained, unnatural voice, so low that he had to lean close to hear it.

"Daphne Haines!" He whistled, a long drawn out, amused whistle. "Well, I'll be darned. And you don't know me? Say, it doesn't take you long to forget a fellow!"

"You aren't—you aren't Ralph McKevitt!"

Even as she said it she knew he was. Ralph . . . meeting Ralph again like this, and not knowing him . . . Ralph, whose pictures she had saved for years; Ralph, whom she had dreamed about ever since that day in the orchard, when he found her under the trees and said she was beautiful . . . Beautiful.

She felt beautiful just remembering it. She lifted her face to his, faintly smiling, and in the glare of a passing street light he saw the misty, stary wonder of her eyes, the parted sweetness of her lips.

"I don't know why I didn't know you . . . I guess it was because I never really saw you before, and I guess I never thought I'd ever really know you . . . did you really know me again? Was that why you spoke to me back there in the coffee shop?"

She was so young and pleading, so pathetically, tragically young.

"Sure I knew you. Knew you right away. What did you think?"

She gave a little shuddering sigh of happiness and snuggled closer to his rough tweed overcoat. The car sped on, houses passed in a beautiful blur . . . everything was beautiful . . . the deserted streets, the foggy night, the street lamps at the corners.

"I went to all the games!" she said suddenly out of the silence. "I never missed one!"

"Never missed one what?"

"Football game—that you played!"

"Oh!" He chuckled. "You mean when I was in college—how did you remember all that?" But he was pleased . . . so she'd seen him play . . . "Well, those were the days, Daphne."

They lapsed into silence again, each acutely conscious of the other's nearness. When he stopped in front of the ugly square old house where the Hinkles lived she couldn't believe that they were there already.

"Well, here we are, safe and sound," he said.

"Yes, here we are," she echoed, unwilling to leave him so soon, not knowing how to keep him or how to ask him to see her again. "Here we are!" And she didn't make any move to get out.

He grinned, and stopped the motor. "So this is where you are living. Well, well! What did the family say about this city life?"

"On, they don't care."

"I mean they know I'm here working—at least they know I'm in San Francisco. But please, please don't say anything to Crystal about me. I don't want anyone key in the door. "Well—good night!"

"Good night!" She closed the door slowly, and watched him through the glass while he went back to the car and drove away.

It was dark and musty in the hall, but Daphne didn't mind. She sang under her breath as she groped her way along the wall, past the parlor, past the marble table and hatrack, to her own door. "Lay my head beneath the rose!" she sang softly, a little breathlessly, the song the lurching seamen had sung on the wharves near the black waters. But she had forgotten where she had heard it; she didn't even know she was singing. The song just bubbled out of her throat as a bird's song does, because she was so happy. She had found Ralph again, and he liked her.

As she was undressing she thought disquietly: "I shouldn't have let him lend me that money . . . it's awful to take money from a man!" But it was Ralph who had loaned it, and Ralph was different. Anything that Ralph did would be all right.

She was smiling to herself again as she stood on tiptoes in her plain white nightgown and turned off the light. She crawled into bed without stopping to remove the faded Turkey red coverlet that was supposed to turn it into a couch

He looked at her with frank admiration.

to know until—until I'm settled down."

"Why should I say anything to Crystal?"

"Don't you see Crystal any more?" And at the thought that he might not, her face was illumined again, all shinning with hope. If he didn't see Crystal, he might come to see her—he might.

"Oh, I see her once in a while," he said indifferently, as if he were speaking of something uninteresting that didn't concern them at all. Then, leaning toward her again, more intimately, "You're out of work, aren't you?"

"No, it's just that I haven't found any yet."

"And you have just five cents left! I'll say you're unconcerned about it. My Lord, out of a job, and five cents—and not turning a hair. It beats me!"

He looked at her with such frank admiration in his handsome face that she tingled with excitement, feeling herself the heroine of an adventure, almost gloating over her own hard luck. "Oh, something'll turn up," she said airily, forgetting the black despair of a few short hours ago.

"Well, I'm going to lend you ten bucks—yes, I am—don't argue with me, and I'll get you a job. I know a lot of people. There's one fellow in particular . . . well, I'll see him, and I'll give you a ring in a day or two. Sure ten is enough? Now don't worry and we'll have something for you in no time . . . sure you won't worry?"

"Of course not! And I'll pay you back—"

"Plenty of time for that." He waited while she fitted her latch

Health Hint

Many cases of stomach trouble are caused by a disordered nervous system. The truth is we do not know how to live. This affects the nerves and, in turn, the stomach. Get the nerves in shape and the stomach takes care of itself.

Picture Spoiled

When Sir James Thorhill was painting the cupola of St. Paul's cathedral a gentleman was one day with him on the scaffolding, which though wide, was not raised. He had just finished the head of one of the apostles and, running back, as usual with painters, to observe the effect, had almost reached the extremity. The gentleman, seeing his danger, and not having time for words, snatched up a large brush and smeared the face. Sir James ran hastily forward, crying—"Dios my soul, what have you done?" "I've only saved your life!" responded his friend.

Air Currents Charted

The government has recently published the first chart of the air currents, the publication dealing with the air currents of the North Pacific. The chart shows wind diagrams at altitudes of 10,000 feet, 5,000 feet and 2,500 feet, and at sea level for the areas in the vicinity of Manila, Guam, Port Har- bor, Seattle, Medford, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Coco Solo, Canal Zone and Hongkong.

Life Like Chess Game

An old philosopher who com- ments on the similarity between the game of chess and life, has this to say: "The families of the chess board are like mankind; they all come out of one bag and are placed in different stations. The condi- tion of the game is that one piece takes another; and when the game is finished they are all deposited to- gether, like men, in the same place."

"There is not any difference be- tween the king and the poor pawn; and it often happens that when thrown into the bag the king lies at the bottom, as some of the great will find themselves after their transit from this world to the next."—Detroit News.

THEATRES

THE SINGING FOOL
Al Jolson, ably supported by Betty Bronson and David Lee, will be seen and heard tonight and Tuesday in his all talking and singing picture "The Singing Fool."

Jolson lays bare a Jester's heart!

Crowds applaud! — "The Sing- ing Fool" goes through his side- splitting antics — then — word from his deserting wife — their child is dying! — The frantic father rushes from the theatre when suddenly . . .

"The singing Fool" is Al Jol- son's most magnificent gesture. It is a tender and glamorous im- personation, all melody and eager- ness nor is the black-face charac- terization completely left out. It is the Jolson the world acclaims as its greatest entertainer — and a new Jolson — more sincere and more moving than ever before. Vitaphone Act and News Reel also will be shown.

COMEDY IS ABUNDANT
Touches of quaint and whimsi- cal comedy in Mary Pickford's newest picture, "Coquette" now playing at the Cliftona theatre, are many.

Director Sam Taylor, a gradu- ate of the Harold Lloyd school of comedy, has lightened the drama of Mary Pickford's story of the little Southern coquette with ef- fective bits of gaiety and youth- fulness. The opening scenes in which the heroine attempts to dis- pose of her faithful lover, Stanley in favor of her newest conquest, reflect the humor of every day realism.

The efforts of the younger brother, Jimmie, to achieve man- hood in the smoking of his after- dinner cigarettes and in his dis- gust at the coquettish of his sis- ter and her friends will bring an understanding smile to all men who were once boys. The pathetic comedy of the scene in which Nor- ma tries to follow the intricate dance steps demonstrated to her by her young friends, while her heart is torn by mental anxiety, could have been produced only by a master hand.

The rectory of a certain church is the scene of an unusual number of weddings due perhaps to the popularity of the rectory and the beautiful service he reads, which impresses the couple being married with the solemnity of the vows being taken.

University to Inaugurate Crime Detection Bureau
To Be Endowed by Interested Citizens of Chicago
THE latest department to be inaugurated at the Northwestern University in Chicago, Ill., is a crime detection bureau. Here the microscope will replace the night-stick and negligible clues be transformed into convicting evidence.
Burt A. Massee, vice-president of the Colgate Palmolive Peet Company, conceived the idea while serving as foreman of a coroner's jury investigating the septuple gang massacre in a North Side garage last winter. He advanced the suggestion and won the indorsement of the Chicago Association of Commerce.
"Every conceivable weapon that modern science can bring into the field against crime will be employed," Massee said in outlining his plans for the proposed bureau. "Blood stains, scraps of clothing, dust on the skin or clothing, often neglected in the regular police investigation, will be made to tell their deadly tales."
Besides offering facilities to police departments throughout the country for trained criminologists with equipment to scrutinize thoroughly bits of evidence, the bureau will provide a training school for those desiring to make crime detection their life work.
One of the features of the new bureau will be a ballistics department, headed by Major Calvin Goddard, one of the ballistic experts brought to Chicago from New York to aid in the gang massacre investigation.
In addition there will be a handwriting department. Typewriting, fingerprinting, chemical analysis and other sciences pertaining to the detection of crime will have their individual units, each under the direction of a recognized expert.

Silent House The art of conversation is not easily encouraged in man and wife. A married couple have so few things to talk about; most things are understood or go without saying.—American Magazine.

Butter Contents Butter contains 15 per cent but terfat, 15 1/2 per cent water, 2 1/2 per cent salt, 1 per cent curd.

Bear in "Talkies" To obtain "talking" moving pictures of a polar bear at the zoo in Oakland, Calif., photographers placed their machines close to the animal's cage and then opened the door so they could film close-ups of the inmate, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The bear seemed to enjoy its brief experience as an "actor," jumping in and out of its pool and giving a few roars and grunts which were recorded for the talkies.

In Bridal Attire The rectory of a certain church is the scene of an unusual number of weddings due perhaps to the popularity of the rector and the beautiful service he renders, which impresses the couple being married with the solemnity of the vows being taken.

On a recent occasion the minister saw an amused look on the face of the bridesmaid, one almost bordering on a titter. He did not know the cause of it until the service ended when, on looking around, he saw his baby granddaughter Ann arrayed in a hat and other regalia of the bridal party.—Indianapolis News.

bureau and has conferred with officials of the university on the proposition. His report was that they received the idea very enthusiastically, and prophesies a great future for the innovation.

The bureau will at first be endowed by public-spirited citizens, but after five years or so Massee believes it will be entirely self-supporting through attracting students from all parts of the world. This is said advisedly, since crime in its most lurid aspects is unquestionably a fascinating study.

Alas!

Matrimony often meets obstacles in a material form.

No less unfortunate is the milkman. We are now encountering an obstacle which is putting a serious crimp in our business. That is—

The empty bottles are not all coming back. We expect a few to get lost, strayed or stolen, and take that fact into consideration.

The percentage this last week was very high. Bottles are expensive, and they are only loaned to you. We need them again when empty.

Please look through the cellar, garage and shed. Set them all out where the milk man can find them and just watch him carry them off. Will he? and How.

Milk is your stand buy—you need it and we go to great expense and pains to supply it—not when we feel inclined—but every day—on the dot—now won't you be considerate and set out your bottles? It will be appreciated. Please—before you forget.

When you buy from the grocer please return the milk bottle. That will help us with the average on returns. Thanks.
